Welcome to the Swedish Pavilion at BIO International

We would like to warmly invite you to join the Swedish Pavilion at BIO International Convention 2026, taking place in San Diego – one of the world’s most vibrant hubs for life science innovation.

At the largest global life science partnering event, Sweden has a unique opportunity to showcase its leadership, capabilities, and collaborative spirit on the international stage.

BIO is the premier global convention for the life sciences, bringing together industry leaders, investors, researchers, and policymakers from every corner of the world. It serves as a dynamic platform for promoting innovation, forging partnerships, and driving growth within the health and biotech industries.

To highlight Sweden’s strengths as a life science nation, we are assembling a Swedish Pavilion – a dedicated space for organizations to connect, collaborate, and present their contributions to the future of healthcare and biotechnology. The pavilion will demonstrate the breadth and depth of Swedish expertise and serve as a hub for networking, knowledge sharing, and international visibility.

Seize this opportunity to be part of a united national presence – positioning Sweden, and your company, at the forefront of global life science development.
